

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

Jeremy Ryan Behlmann,

Plaintiff

v.

Martin, et al.,

Defendants

Case No. 2:24-cv-00402-CDS-DJA

Order Dismissing and Closing Case

Pro se plaintiff Jeremy Ryan Behlmann brings this civil-rights action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 to redress constitutional violations that he claims he suffered while incarcerated at Clark County Detention Center. ECF No. 1-1. On March 12, 2024, this court ordered Behlmann to file a fully complete application to proceed in forma pauperis or pay the full $405 filing fee on or before May 13, 2024. ECF No. 3. The court warned Behlmann that the action could be dismissed if he failed to file a fully complete application to proceed in forma pauperis with all three documents or pay the full $402 filing fee for a civil action by that deadline. Id. at 2. That deadline expired and Behlmann did not file a fully complete application to proceed in forma pauperis, pay the full $405 filing fee, or otherwise respond.

I. Discussion

District courts have the inherent power to control their dockets and “[i]n the exercise of that power, they may impose sanctions including, where appropriate . . . dismissal” of a case. Thompson v. Hous. Auth. of City of Los Angeles, 782 F.2d 829, 831 (9th Cir. 1986). A court may dismiss an action based on a party’s failure to obey a court order or comply with local rules. See Carey v. King, 856 F.2d 1439, 1440-41 (9th Cir. 1988) (affirming dismissal for failure to comply with local rule requiring pro se plaintiffs to keep court apprised of address); Malone v. U.S. Postal Service, 833 F.2d 128, 130 (9th Cir. 1987) (dismissal for failure to comply with court order). In determining whether to dismiss an action on one of these grounds, the court must consider: (1) the public’s interest in expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the court’s need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of

1 prejudice to the defendants; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits; and
2 (5) the availability of less drastic alternatives. See In re Phenylpropanolamine Prod. Liab. Litig., 460 F.3d
3 1217, 1226 (9th Cir. 2006) (quoting Malone, 833 F.2d at 130).

4 The first two factors, the public's interest in expeditiously resolving this litigation and 5 the court's interest in managing its docket, weigh in favor of dismissal of Behlmann's claims. The 6 third factor, risk of prejudice to defendants, also weighs in favor of dismissal because a
7 presumption of injury arises from the occurrence of unreasonable delay in filing a pleading
8 ordered by the court or prosecuting an action. See Anderson v. Air W., 542 F.2d 522, 524 (9th Cir.
9 1976). The fourth factor—the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits—is 10 greatly outweighed by the factors favoring dismissal.

11 The fifth factor requires me to consider whether less drastic alternatives can be used to 12 correct the party's failure that brought about the need to consider dismissal. See Yourish v. Cal.
13 Amplifier, 191 F.3d 983, 992 (9th Cir. 1999) (explaining that considering less drastic alternatives
14 before the party has disobeyed a court order does not satisfy this factor); accord Pagtalunan v. Galaza, 15 291 F.3d 639, 643 & n.4 (9th Cir. 2002). Courts “need not exhaust every sanction short of 16 dismissal before finally dismissing a case, but must explore possible and meaningful alternatives.”
17 Henderson v. Duncan, 779 F.2d 1421, 1424 (9th Cir. 1986). Because this court cannot operate without 18 collecting reasonable fees, and litigation cannot progress without a plaintiff's compliance with 19 court orders, the only alternative is to enter a second order setting another deadline. But issuing a 20 second order will only delay the inevitable and further squander the court's finite resources.
21 Setting another deadline is not a meaningful alternative given these circumstances. So the fifth 22 factor also favors dismissal. Having thoroughly considered these dismissal factors, I find that they 23 weigh in favor of dismissal.

24 II. Conclusion

25 It is therefore ordered that this action is dismissed without prejudice based on 26 Behlmann's failure to file a fully complete application to proceed in forma pauperis or pay the full 27 $405 filing fee in compliance with this court's March 12, 2024, order.
28

1 The Clerk of Court is directed to enter judgment accordingly and close this case. No
2 other documents may be filed in this now-closed case. If Behlmann wishes to pursue his claims, he 3 must file a complaint in a new case and either pay the required filing fee or properly apply for in 4 forma pauperis status.
